

Tom Krattli

President

Kansas City Title Company and Plaza Mortgage

Where SOLD Means More

Introducing the general contractor of home financing.

As president of Kansas City Title Company and Plaza Mortgage, Tom Krattli fuses his business knowledge and financial expertise to manage the two Reece & Nichols Realtors affiliate companies. He supplies home buyers with the necessary labor and materials by means of mortgage and title services. He streamlines the buying and selling process by offering a one-stop solution for home buyers and sellers. The result is always a well-constructed real estate transaction.

You could say Tom regards his job as more of a hobby, as he enjoys establishing a solid financial foundation to construct the perfect real estate package.

The Leavenworth native is a certified public accountant who earned an accounting degree from the University of Kansas and has more than two decades of experience in the real estate industry. When not in the office, Tom manages to find time to play golf, tend to the yard and spend time with his wife, Mary Ann, and two sons, Bob and Mike.
